America’s Unofficial Ambassadors
Summer Service Internship Program

Do More with Your Summer Internship

Explore Morocco’s Mid-Atlas Mountains, the street markets of Yogyakarta, or the winding alleys of Stonetown, Zanzibar. Earn academic credit and a Certificate in Citizen Diplomacy. Gain professional experience in a cross-cultural setting. Most importantly, change lives through service.

The America’s Unofficial Ambassadors Summer Service Internship program offers a unique opportunity to support schools and non-governmental organizations that are addressing vital human development challenges at the grassroots level in Indonesia, Morocco, Tajikistan or Zanzibar. Unofficial ambassadors form the type of people-to-people partnerships that are the future of international relations, and specifically America’s relationship with the Muslim World. In addition to interning full-time for six weeks, our unofficial ambassadors study the local language and learn about the culture and history of their host country. Internship options include:

- Teaching English, French, Science or basic computer skills in public and private schools as well as in NGOs
- Designing websites and supporting NGOs with outreach efforts
- Producing video documentaries on human rights, education and environmental initiatives
- Leading activities at summer camps for young people

Undergraduate students can earn four academic credits from The College of New Jersey and all interns can earn a Certificate in Citizen Diplomacy. The program fee of $3,875 includes housing for six weeks, transportation to and from internship sites, insurance, some meals and cultural excursions. Airfare and personal expenses are not included.

About AUA
America’s Unofficial Ambassadors is a citizen diplomacy initiative, which builds mutual understanding and enhances people-to-people partnerships between America and the Muslim World. We do this by placing Americans in volunteer positions in the Muslim World and helping them share their experiences upon their return.
