The School of Criminology and Criminal Justice (SCCJ) invites applications for a lecturer to begin August 18, 2016 on ASU’s West Campus. Lecturer positions are full-time, non-tenure-track faculty appointments to teach four courses per semester during the academic year.

The College of Public Service & Community Solutions’ SCCJ is a nationally recognized leader in higher education and is highly regarded for its distinguished faculty and research productivity. The SCCJ offers undergraduate, masters, and doctoral degrees, as well as several certificate programs. The SCCJ is conveniently located on the ASU Downtown Phoenix campus in the heart of the sixth largest city in the United States. In addition, the SCCJ offers upper-division courses in Yuma and Lake Havasu City, AZ, which are designed to allow students who already hold an associate’s degree to complete the Bachelor of Science degree by taking in-person classes. The position currently under recruitment is for a faculty member to anchor a similar baccalaureate-degree completion program at ASU’s West Campus in Glendale, AZ. For more information about the SCCJ’s opportunities for research, instruction, practice, student internship experience, and community-based service learning opportunities, please visit our web site at http://ccj.asu.edu.

Required Minimum Qualifications:

- a master’s degree in criminal justice, criminology, or a related field from a regionally-accredited university;
- the demonstrated ability to teach undergraduate-level courses in criminological theory, statistics, and research methods to SCCJ majors, as well as courses in the applicant’s substantive area(s) of expertise;
- evidence of teaching effectiveness;
- the ability to work independently with minimal supervision; and
- a demonstrated commitment to and/or expertise in educating a diverse student population.

Desired Qualifications:

- a Ph.D. in criminology and criminal justice or a related field;
- experience working in one of the justice professions; and
- at least one year of experience teaching in-person courses at the baccalaureate level.

Note: The J.D. is not a sufficient qualification for this position. However, those holding a J.D. from an ABA-accredited law school in addition to an earned master’s or doctoral degree in criminology and criminal justice (or a closely-related field) are strongly encouraged to apply.

Application Procedure: Only electronic applications will be reviewed. Applicants are asked to upload the following as a single document in either Microsoft Word or Adobe PDF formats: (1) a letter of application, (2) a curriculum vitae, and (3) three references with complete contact information
(mailing address, phone number, and email). Upload the application as one combined document to https://publicservice.asu.edu/content/jobs. The review of applications will begin on February 29, 2016; if not filled, reviews will occur each Monday thereafter and will continue until the search is closed.

The School actively seeks and supports a diverse workforce. Women and minorities are encouraged to apply. A background check is required prior to employment.
